1. Reference cable lays the groundwork for what I hope will be the smooth carrying out of your request for your wife's transportation overseas. I shall do my best to meet your request for an extension of TDY although I shall not let any difficulties along that line stand in the way of negotiations concerning your wife's travel. I have discussed this matter at some length with her and have assured her that I will do my best to comply with her and your wishes.

2. I should like to make the point, however, that this whole business could have been handled more expeditiously, more simply and more securely had the original request for her transportation been forwarded via official channels by you. For reasons which I am sure that you will understand the organization can not make a practice of sending wives and families overseas unless it has an official request from the husband that this be done. In your own case reference cable provides adequate notification of your wishes. In the case of ☐ we have made arrangements that a private communication from him be considered the basis for official action.

3. In all future cases please see that the original request for transportation comes from the field.
